

GLOBAL TEACHERS INSTITUTE

About Us

The Global Teachers Institute (GTI) is a teacher development network of schools and organisations committed to developing high-quality teachers through school-based initial teacher education programmes, international exchange in partnership with Teach With Africa, and collaborative platforms. We are committed to developing a new brigade of teachers who will transform the way children are taught. We do this through our highly successful teacher training core programme called the Future Leaders Programme (FLP).

Our Vision

At the Global Teachers Institute, we envision quality teachers facilitating learning that creates a just, equitable and inclusive world.

Our Mission

Our mission is to develop reflective, empathetic, socially responsible master teachers for high-need African schools through school-based initial teacher education programmes, projects and interventions for replication and scale.

Future Leaders Programme

The FLP aims to address the severe shortage of qualified teachers in the South African education sector by providing bursaries in partnership with the Government to students studying towards their Bachelor of Education degrees via distance learning. When recruited into the Programme, these students are called future leaders. They are placed in partner host schools with mentors for workplace training and professional development for the duration of their studies.

With an immediate absorption rate of 93%, we see the Programme's success and the need for teachers that are future leaders. Future leaders leave the Programme as qualified master teachers that are reflective, empathetic and socially responsible.

Other Programmes and Benefits

GTI offers exciting programmes that afford future leaders opportunities to develop themselves as aspiring teachers further. These include the Teach with Africa 3-4 week-long annual exchanges as well as the GTI Axis Summit, which is a multi-day series of communities of practice tailored to allow stakeholders in the education sector the opportunity to develop themselves and collaborate across the board.
